INTRODUCTION.

WHEN we review the remote Histories of Great Britain, and find Names and facts delivered with unhesitating confidence and Chronological accuracy it seems, at first sight, an unreasonable degree of skepticism to withhold our assent from them or question their authenticity.

The fictitious History of any Country is one of the necessary consequences of its great Antiquity. (All races of men, and all parts of the globe, are equally Ancient; at least, we believe so; but Antiquity applied to a Family or Country only extends to the period of its becoming of an importance distinct from other parts, or from other Families.) But the same reason does not exist for a fictitious account of Families. There is no inducement, much less any real cause, for tracing an individual Family any farther than it can be done with some degree of truth; and therefore, though vanity may sometimes misrepresent, or oral tradition alter a tale, yet, generally speaking, more credit is due to the Recorded History of an individual Family than even to that of the Country in which it has existed and risen to importance. Not only is it evident that there are not the same causes for fictitious History of private Families, but we know, from actual facts, that the History of the Individual is frequently prior to the Histories of their Countries, and far more accurate; that is to say, Genealogy and Biography are more accurate and more Ancient than general History.

The early History of the Bible is little more than that of Individual Families; and, indeed, until society becomes firmly united, or until wars take place, what is the History of a Nation? We scarcely know anything of the beginning of any Ancient City (we know well enough about the foundation of Alexandria and of Constantinople; something of that of Carthage; of Rome about as much; but of Paris, London, and others, all that we know is, that when Record began they were considerable Cities, or of the origin of any Ancient public establishment, probably because every Record was neglected until they became of importance. To use a familiar, but an incorrect and significant expression, "What is everybody's business is nobody's business;" that is to say, it is neglected. The History of a Society of people, or of a Nation, at the beginning comes under the description of everybody's business. All are interested in it in some degree, but none in any particular manner; whereas the History of an individual Family is no everybody's business, and therefore it is always somebody's business, and is not neglected.

It is therefore clear that the History of Individual Families is, in many cases, of greater Antiquity, and goes to a more early period than that of the States to which they belong, which one, at first sight, would consider as an assertion highly absurd and ridiculous.

In addition to what has been said respecting the comparative Antiquity of private and National History, it is also to be observed that the difficulty of writing the latter is so much greater than that of the former that it is much more likely to be left undone, or at least to be badly performed. In recording the transactions of an Individual Race there is no difficulty; a mere Register of transactions serves the purpose completely, and all those transactions are known to the compiler or collector, or, if we please to call him so, the Biographer and Historian of the Family.

The History of a Family consists of a simple narration of facts and transactions that succeed each other, and can be all known to one person, or a succession of persons, whereas the History of a Nation comprises a great number of facts and transactions not regularly connected, known to different persons, and requiring great assiduity to arrange in proper order of time; it is, therefore, a very difficult task, and a great labor, whilst the other is extremely easy.

Under all these circumstances, it is indisputable that the History of particular Families may be expected to be more Ancient, as well as more correct, than that of even the Nation, themselves, of which they form a small portion. Individuals may, indeed, embellish through vanity, with greater facility and less chance of detection; but there are not many instances in which such practices may not be discovered by an industrious Compiler; and it must be admitted in favour, and much to the honour and credit of Ancient Families, that there is seldom reason for accusing them of vain exaggeration. They do really appear to have aimed, as far as possible, at true narrative, and here it is necessary to say something on that subject.

Men who have performed great actions are very seldom disposed to boast or deceive. They feel a great satisfaction in telling the truth; and besides the contempt and hatred which such men entertain for falsehood, they feel no satisfaction in boasting of what is not true. The men who are inclined to boast, are such men as have nothing to boast of; and by these means the great actions of Individuals are transmitted to Posterity with a much greater degree of truth and accuracy than we should, without reflection, be apt to suppose. (Where is there more modest history than that written by Cæsar of his own wars in Gaul? Where do we ever find any brave or great men boasting? Shakespeare, that inimitable painter of human nature, makes the cowards always boast, and tell lies, and the brave men modestly adhere to the truth. To say that Shakespeare does so is equivalent to proving that such are the true practices of brave men and cowards.)

The very general feeling of antipathy that had prevailed nearly all over this country for a long period against Genealogy, Family Antiquity, and cognate Subjects, has greatly disappeared, and the merits of such studies and investigations as are required in their pursuit is being appreciated and encouraged.

It is not a little remarkable that this change of feeling should have taken place after about the same lapse of time from the advent of the Puritans here as that of William the Conqueror in England; the intermediate time in England having been occupied in forming the materials for Family History, and the same process has obtained in this Country.

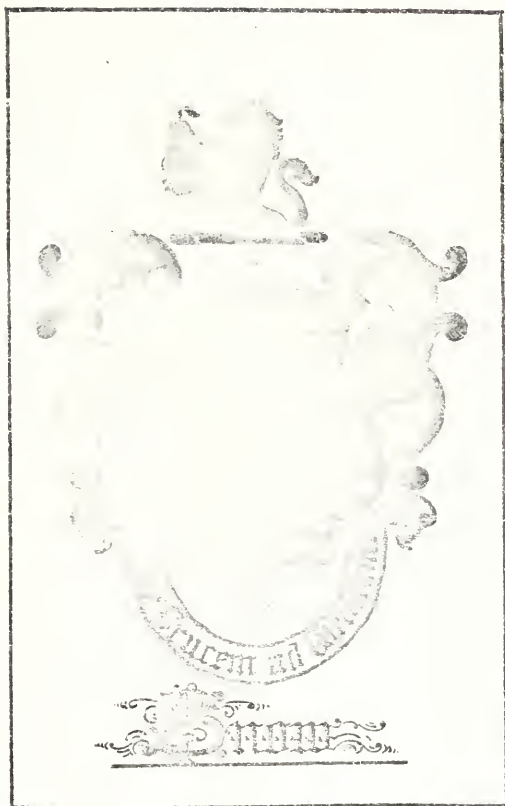

The great number of inquirers, and of individual members of American Families, who have been engaged actively for years in gathering their History and Pedigree, has induced the President of the "American College for Genealogical Registry and Heraldry" to commence a series of Volumes to contain the History of American Families, traced to their progenitors in this country, combined with their History in and derivation from Foreign Countries, in the same manner as in England, where Family History comprises the History of Great Britain.

From the earliest ages, Genealogy has occupied much of the attention of Mankind, and whether we consult Sacred or profane History we shall find the extraction of the Individual always considered as forming an important object in his History, and whilst the personal History of the Individual in this Country has been for a long time considered as of primary importance, he has discovered that whilst he has been making History for his Descendants, he has become desirous to obtain a knowledge of his Ancestors, to find among them a prototype of himself from whom he has inherited the attributes and talent that have enabled him to become eminent and wealthy.

Although the Actions of a man himself are the truest proof of Merit, yet whoever pays due attention to the natural sentiments of Mankind, while he keeps clear of the absurd prejudice which gives honour and respect to Extraction alone, will acknowledge that the actions of Men are not the only ground of respectability or estimation in this world.

Perhaps the fair and honorable pride of emulating the virtues of Ancestors is one of the greatest recommendations of a man who is well descended.

SNOW.

LINEAGE.

I. HON. NICHOLAS SNOW, the progenitor of the Family in America, was among the earliest settlers in New England.

Only three years after the ship "May Flower" had landed the Pilgrims on "Plymouth Rock," another British ship, the "Anne," sailed from England early in the year 1623, and arrived at Plymouth, Massachusetts, in July, with another body of Puritans, among whom was Mr. Nicholas Snow.

"Historians have celebrated and Poets sung the praises of the Puritans. They were the most remarkable body of men which the world has produced. They were men whose minds had derived a peculiar character from the daily contemplation of Superior Beings and Eternal interests.

"Not content with acknowledging in general an overruling Providence, they habitually ascribed every event to the Will of the Great Being: for whose power nothing was too vast: for whose inspection nothing was too minute. To know Him, to serve Him, to enjoy Him: was with them the great end of existence.

"These were the men to whom the world owes the preservation of Civil and Religious Liberty."

The arrival of the ship "Anne" with a large body of hardy people, and ample provisions was an event of the greatest importance to those "Pilgrims," and other subsequent emigrants, inasmuch as but for the supply of food and other necessities, the whole colony must undoubtedly have perished.

Hon. Nicholas Snow, was a man of considerable wealth, eminence and consequence in the community at Plymouth, where he was elected a Representative to the State Government in 1630 and 1632.

He afterward removed to Eastham, Massachusetts, in 1634, purchased lands and settled there, and was also elected there in 1637, as a Representative.

Mr. Nicholas Snow and his family were among the earliest settlers of Eastham, as he had been of Plymouth. He lived there the residue of his lifetime, and died there 15 November, 1676, aged about 70 to 75 years.

Mr. Snow was married in Plymouth, Massachusetts, soon after his arrival, and probably in the year 1626 (before the division of cattle, 1627) to Constance Hopkins, (who died at Eastham, Massachusetts, in October, 1674), daughter of Stephen Hopkins, of Plymouth. (Mr. Hopkins and his daughter were of the Pilgrims, and were passengers in the May Flower). Mr. Snow had, (as stated in the traditions), thirteen children, of whom we have account of only five.

2. Mark Snow, born at Plymouth, Massachusetts, 9th May, 1628.
2. Stephen Snow, born at Plymouth, Massachusetts, about 1630.
2. John Snow, born at Plymouth, Massachusetts, about 1633.
2. Jabez Snow, born at Plymouth, Massachusetts, about 1635.
2. Joseph Snow, born at Plymouth, Massachusetts, about 1637.

SECOND GENERATION.

2. HON. MARK SNOW, of Plymouth and Eastham, Massachusetts, first son of Hon. Nicholas Snow, of the same places, was born at the former 9 May, 1628.

He was counted among those fit to bear Arms at Plymouth in 1643, at the early age of fifteen years.

He was Town Clerk of Plymouth for some years, and removed with his father in 1654 to Eastham, Massachusetts, where he was elected a Representative to the State Government of Massachusetts, Anno 1675, also in 1686, and 1689, and died there about Anno 1695, aged about 67 years.

South Thomaston, Maine. She married Caleb Hall, and removed to St. George, Maine, where she died.

FIFTH GENERATION.

5. REV. ELISHA SNOW, of Brunswick, Cumberland County, Maine, and South Thomaston, Maine, third child of Deacon Isaac Snow, of Eastham, Massachusetts, and Brunswick, Maine, son of Isaac Snow, of Eastham, Massachusetts, sixth child of John Snow, of Plymouth and Eastham, Massachusetts, third child of Hon. Nicholas Snow, of same places, was born at the first named place 26th March, 1739, O. S., whence he removed Anno 1767 to, and settled at South Thomaston, Maine, where he died 31st January, 1832, aged nearly 93 years. He was a Baptist minister.

“He was the first settler there, and erected saw mills. He was baptized in April, 1764, and on 27th September, 1794, was settled as sub-Pastor of the Baptist Church of South Thomaston, and afterwards full Pastor.”

At Wessaweskeag (the Indian name for South Thomaston) few or no attempts to settle had been made prior to 1767. In that year Elder Snow, of Harpswell, (while seeking a good chance for lumbering) visited the place, and being struck with its singular water privileges, fine growth and other advantages, immediately, with his natural keen discernment and prompt action, took measures for commencing a settlement there.

In connection with John Mathews, of Plainfield, Connecticut, (whom he induced to join him) he purchased a possessory claim of a Lieutenant in the British Army, then in Boston, to 320 acres of land on which they erected a saw mill and went to work at the lumber on the ground for the means of making payment.

Succeeding in this, Mr. Snow went to Boston for the purpose of completing the contract and procuring a deed. Here, so favorable an offer was made that he was induced to purchase the entire tract of 1750 acres; and Mathews, not being present he took the deed of the whole in his own name, and arranged the matter with his associate afterwards.

"Paying what money he had, and giving notes, together with a mortgage of the whole tract for the remainder, he returned home well pleased with his bargain.

"Fortune, however, had not yet exhausted her favors; for, it is said, the mortgage, having sailed for England in a ship that was never afterwards heard from, was supposed to have been lost, with the notes and unrecorded mortgage with him, and no payment was ever made or demanded; though the right of soil was, November 15th Anno 1773, purchased of Mr. Fluker for £750. 10s.

"This, to them, fortunate commencement, gave such an impetus to the business of Messrs. Snow & Mathews, that it soon attracted other settlers to this, the future South Thomaston.

"The first dwelling house built in the settlement was that of Elder Snow, who did not move his family hither till after Anno 1771.

"Mr. Snow hired his brother Samuel to come down and superintend the erection of his buildings. To these, at a later period, he added a grist mill, which ran successfully for many years, till it was accidentally consumed by fire.

"He also commenced ship-building at an early period.

"This large tract of land, purchased by Mr. Snow, was wholly situated on the North or North-East side of the Westaweskeg River and was laid out by him into convenient lots for farms, mostly sold or eventually given away to his own children, including seven sons, who all became active and enterprising men of business, and most of them masters of vessels.

"The North-westernmost of these lots, on the extreme boundary of the tract, called the "Ephraim Snow lot," now constitutes the farm of S. Brinton Butler, Esq., and was first settled upon by William Rowell Anno 1801.

"The next or adjoining lot below, called the "Elisha Snow lot," became that of Franklin Ferrand.

"The third, called the "Israel Snow lot," became that of Barzillai Pierce; the fourth, called the "Larkin Snow lot," passed into the hands of Briggs and Brackett Butler, as did, also, the fifth, called the "Isaac Snow lot."

"The sixth was transferred to Leonard Wade, which, on his removal to Union, was bought by the Butlers.

"The seventh was taken by the purchaser's brother, Joseph Snow; the eighth by Jonas Dean; the ninth by John Bridges; the tenth by Elisha Snow (No. 2), and transferred to William McLoon; the eleventh by Israel Snow, now occupied by Jesse Sleeper.

"The twelfth was reserved to the original purchaser, and occupied by himself and his son-in-law Captain Henry Spalding; and Robert Snow (No. 3), with their families, are the only descendants of the first owner, Mr. Snow, remaining on the original tract.

"The thirteenth was taken by Captain Ephraim Snow, and now occupied by James Sweetland.

"The fourteenth by John Mathews, lately that of Edee Rowell, deceased, whose house where he was born and died, was built in 1755, and raised on Christmas day.

"The fifteenth was taken by James Stackpole, who commenced making brick there, but, getting discouraged and removing over to George's River, sold the lot to Hezekiah Bushfield.

"It was afterwards sold to Luther Hayden, with whose son William it now remains.

"The sixteenth was shared by Robert and Ambrose Snow, who transferred their respective portions, the former to Anthony Mathews, and the latter to Benjamin Snow."

REV. ELISHA SNOW was married at Cape Elizabeth, Cumberland County, Maine, 6th December, 1759, to Betsey Jordan, daughter of Robert Jordan, of same place. She died in August, 1835.

Their nine children were—

1. Captain Ephraim Snow, born at Harpswell, Maine, 14th October, 1762.
2. Captain Robert Snow, born at Harpswell, Maine, March 14th, 1762.
3. Captain Ambrose Snow, born at Harpswell, Maine, March 23, 1765.
4. Joanna Snow, born at Harpswell, Maine, January 24, 1767. Married Rev. Isaac Case, and died probably in Readfield, Kennebec County, Maine, 3d August, 1847.
5. Elisha Snow (2d), born at Harpswell, Maine, May 29th, 1769.
6. Captain Israel Snow, born at Harpswell, Maine, October 24, 1771, and died Anno 1864.
7. Captain Isaac Snow, born at South Thomaston, Maine, November 15th, 1773.
8. Polly Snow, born at Harpswell, Maine, 27th November, 1775. Married Captain James Spalding. Removed to South Thomaston, Maine, where she died suddenly August 24 h, 1851.
9. Larkin Snow, born at Harpswell, Maine, 24th January, 1775, and died Anno 1846.
5. JOSEPH SNOW, of Brunswick, Maine, fourth child of Deacon Isaac Snow, of Harps-well, Cumberland County, Maine, and said place, was born there 2d October, 1740.

He removed first to New Meadows (now Brunswick), Maine, and afterwards, with his family, to South Thomaston, Maine, where he died.

He was married about Anno 1762. His wife was named Hannah. Their children were—

6. John Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 13th February, 1763.
6. Benjamin Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine 16th October, 1765.
6. Nathaniel Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 22d July, 1767.
6. Daniel Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 13th July, 1769.
6. Hannah Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, Anno 1772. Married Captain Isaac, son of Rev. Elisha Snow, of South Thomaston, and removed to Bangor, Maine.
6. William Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 21st September, 1771.
6. Lydia B. Snow, born at New Meadows, Maine, Anno 1775. Married George Sayward, removed to and died in Rockland, Maine, October 27th, 1825.
6. Apphia Snow, born at New Meadows, Maine, about 1773. She married, first, John Mathews, and second, Joshua Jordan. She removed to, Bangor, Maine.

5. SAMUEL SNOW, of Brunswick, Maine, seventh child of Deacon Isaac Snow, of Harpswell, Cumberland County, Maine, and same place, was born at the first named place 28th February, 1745. He removed with his father to South Thomaston, Maine, and soon afterwards returned to Brunswick, Maine, where he resided. He was married at Brunswick, Maine, 19th May, Anno 1767.

His first wife was Mary Dean. Their child was—

6. Mary Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine 5th February, 1768.

Samuel Snow was married secondly 24th August, Anno 1769. His second wife was Abigail Jordan. Their children were—

6. Rebecca Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 7th June, 1770.
6. Jeremiah Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 26th September, 1772.
6. John Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 15th December, 1774.
6. Jessie Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 21st January, 1777.
6. Sarah Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 27th June, 1779.
6. Jordan Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 25th December, 1781.
6. Isaac Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 23d August, 1782.
6. Abigail Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine 19th April, 1787.
6. Elizabeth Snow, born at Brunswick, Maine, 2d November, 1789. Elizabeth married Peter Jordan, Jr., 15th October, 1811.

SIXTH GENERATION.

6. CAPTAIN EPHRAIM SNOW, of Harpswell, Cumberland County, and South Thomaston, Knox County, Maine, first child of Rev. Elisha Snow, of Brunswick, Cumberland County, and South Thomaston, Maine, third child of Deacon Isaac Snow, of Eastham, Barnstable County, Massachusetts, Harpswell, Maine, and Brunswick, Maine, son of Isaac Snow, of Eastham, sixth child of John Snow, of Plymouth, and Eastham, Massachusetts, third child of Hon. Nicholas Snow, of last named places, was born at the first named 14th October, 1760, and removed to South Thomaston.

He was married, probably at Bristol, Maine, 17th July, 1785, to Jenney McKown, of same place, and removed to Boston, Massachusetts where he died in November, 1844.

They had ten children—

7. Beney Snow, born at Boston, Massachusetts, in July, 1787. Died there in December, 1791.

7. Larkin Snow, born at Boston, Massachusetts, Anno 1789. Died there February 6th, 1797.
7. Alexander Snow, born at Boston, Massachusetts, in April, 1741.

THORNDIKE.

According to a Family tradition the Founder of this Family in England, was from Germany or the Low Countries, who introduced there the system of dikes and thorn hedges, and thus obtained the name.

It was first brought to this Country by John, the son of Francis, and brother of Herbert Thornlike prebendary of Westminster, London, being fifth in descent from William Thormake, of Great or Little Carlton, Lincolnshire, England.

1. John Thorndike was Captain in Little Carlton, near South, Lincolnshire, 23d July 1673.

He came from Ipswich, England, to Boston, Massachusetts, early as 1632, perhaps in the fleet with Governor

Winthrop. He was one of the twelve allowed by the Government 1st of April, 1633, to go to plant Ipswich with the eldest son of the Governor, where he remained a leading man for thirty-five years.

In 1668, he went to England with his daughters, Ann, Alice and Martha, and made his will there on the 20th of July, of same year, in contemplation of his return to America, but died there about Anno 1700.

His wife was named Elizabeth, by whom he had six daughters and an only son, viz :

AMBROSE SNOW,

OF NEW YORK.

A Genealogical Chart is a frame work of the complete structure which we call "Family History." The chart exhibits the line of derivation of the Descendants from a common progenitor, who may each thereby a certain pedigree, which is always a great satisfaction to the members of a good family, and is productive of great benefit, inasmuch as those who respect their Ancestors, will also respect themselves.

The study of such a Family History teaches us to love our Ancestors, while we feel honored by them, as by friends communing on equal grounds, and thus draws closer the bonds that tie together the Generations into one Family.

Personal Anecdote or Biography cannot do the punctate value of such charts or pedigrees, which have embodied a few particulars in the life of Ambrose Snow, one of New York's best citizens, with his pedigree briefly stated.

The Family of Snow, in New England, are all to be traced sprung from two brothers, who landed at Cape Cod, Massachusetts, about Anno 1622.

One of their descendants went from thence to Cape Elizabeth, then a part of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The great grandfather's father of Ambrose Snow appears to have lived in, what was then known as, New Meadows, since known as Brunswick, whence he came to the Town of St. George, Maine, where he died.

His son, Rev. Elisha Snow, purchased a large Tract of Land in what was then called "Wassaweskeag," since, South Thomaston, where he engaged in Farming, Ship-building and Merchandise.

He subsequently became converted to a zealous belief in the Baptist Church, thought he had a call to preach, and finally became the Pastor of the first Baptist Church in Maine.

It is said that he preached for that Church fifty years, without receiving any pay.

His Family consisted of seven sons and daughters.

Ambrose Snow, the grandfather of Ambrose Snow, of New York, was married to a daughter of General Campbell, of Ninigwits, now Cherryfield, Maine.

He died at sea, or in a West India Port.

His son, Robert Snow, was a shipmaster. He was married to Hannah Thonndike. Her Family was of English Stock. They came to this Country about Anno 1632, and settled at Beverly, Massachusetts. From thence, Ambrose Snow's mother's branch came and settled on 600 Acres of Land in the upper part of St. George; that part which joins South Thomaston, Maine.

Ambrose Snow, of New York, son of Robert Snow, of Thomaston, Maine, was married to Mary Robinson. Her Father was a native of Wales, who came to this Country about Anno 1800, and settled at South Thomaston, Maine.

He was married to Jane Wiley, whose Family was among the earliest settlers of South Thomaston.

Ambrose Snow adopted the life of a Seaman when young, and followed that business successfully.

He commanded several vessels, namely, The Schooner Edward, Brig Georgina, Ship John Holland, Ship Leopard, Ship Levinus, Ship John Hancock, Ship Carak, Ship Peabody, and the Ship Sutherland.

At the age of 42 he established a shipping House in New York, under the firm name of "Snow & Burgess." The house still exists at 60, South street.

He is the present Senior Member of the Firm. He also holds several Honorary positions, such as Trustee of the Harbor, and President of the Board. Said Board consists of the Mayor of the City of New York, the Recorder, the President of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rector of Trinity Church, the Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and the President of the "Maine Society;" also the Vice-President of the "Maine Society."

He is also President of the "Board of Trade and Transportation," and Vice-President of the "Maine Bank;" also a Trustee in the "Seamen's Saving Bank," and President of the Board of Pilots and Harbor Commissioners."

These things are mentioned that Mr. Snow's descendants might possibly, in after years, be gratified to know that their Ancestor had been a man of fair consideration among his business associates.

Family pride should always be encouraged. One's descendants should always endeavor to uphold the name.

In looking back on our past career, we feel as though we had a right to indulge in a little egotism, when one recalls the events of a busy life, and the experience through which he has passed, like all New England Boys of that time.

Ambrose Snow began life poor, and worked at whatever came to hand. When very young, at the age of eleven years, he went to Sea with his Father.

They loaded a cargo of cotton at Mobile, in Alabama, and carried it to Liverpool, in England. This was in the year 1825.

Since that time he has been an active participant in the Ocean Commerce of this Country.

He commanded Ships for twenty years, and endeavored to make himself during that time, a Shipmaster of the first class, and he was now good reason, to think that he has succeeded.

It would be interesting to follow this up with a record of the voyages and business incidents of his life—but the matter would become too voluminous. We hope that those who are to come after will seek to establish characters for themselves which will reflect credit upon all those who have gone before; and there is no better rule of life than, "Be always what you wish your friends and associates to think you."

ERRATA.

In commencing this work, it was thought that a book might be produced free from typographical errors, but the force of the old couplet—

"Whoever thinks a faultless piece to see Thinks what ne'er was, nor is, nor e'er will be."

is realized, and attention must be called to the following corrections :

On page 23, Chermfield should be Cherryfield ; the name is twice on the page.

On page 24, Dillias Taylor Mingsen should be Lillias ; James should be Jane, and Dillias T. Snow, should be Lillias T. Snow.

On page 30, William Snow died young, but Robert H. Snow is still living.

On page 37, Nanauagus should be Nantiguagus. Mary Robinson's father settled in Thomaston, and Jane Wiley's family were in Thomaston, not south Thomaston.

On same page, Brig Georgian should be Georges, and Pastor, Paston.

On page 38, leave out John Snow, from Cambridge, as it is not he, for he died unmarried ; the John meant is John, sixth son of Captain Elsha, first son of Isaac, seventh son of Rev. Elsha Snow, found on page 40. Transfer the child Henry S. to the 40th page.

On page 38, Rockford occurs twice, should be Rockland ; and Waltham should be Warren.
